

Brachyscome species

These are charming sweet-scented flowers that give a superb display in beds, baskets, pots or window boxes.

A hardy annual flowering in the same year as planted and preferring a sunny position.

Propagation

Sow in Spring to early Summer a quarter of an inch deep in the flowering position. Keep moist. Thin out to 20cm apart when large enough to handle. They can, alternatively, be raised in seed boxes or trays using a standard seed raising mix.

Flowering throughout Summer and Autumn. Remove dead heads to prolong flowering.
